The Hipporrhorrhea is still on the increase in the city, but as yet no fatal cases are reported. A large number of mules were attacked yesterday.

Mr. Oettinger has just returned from the North with a second stock of Millinery, which he will sell 50 per cent. lower than former prices, if you wish to procure bargains, call on him.

MEMBERS ARRIVING.—The following members of the General Assembly have arrived in the city and quartered as follows:

W. W. Flemming, Esq., Senator from McDowell, is at the Yarborough House.

C. W. Grandy, Jr., Senator from Pasquotank, James Sharpe, Representative from Pasquotank, H. T. H. Tertord, S. A. Jones, Representative from Camden, O. N. Grey, from Dare, are at the National Hotel, of Caswell, at Robert Wyche's.

Col. R. T. Bennett, of Anson, is at the Exchange Hotel.

Other prominent arrivals will be seen under the head of "members arriving."

RALEIGH AT THE WILMINGTON FAIR.—The Star of yesterday, after referring to several articles of fancy zephyr work exhibited by Mrs. E. R. McGowan, of this city, says "a most attractive and exquisite arrangement of a cross clustered around with fern leaves and phantom flowers exhibited by this lady, attracted much attention and was greatly admired. Mrs. McGowan, who is the lady of the Keeper of the Capitol, has the reputation of being one of the most expert workers in the fine arts in the State, and we are pleased to record this favorable mention of the article by the Star."

BROWN'S MUSEUM.—Brown's fancy goods and general variety store on Fayetteville street is decidedly worthy of the name of "Brown's Museum." He has on hand the largest stock and most complete variety of toys, fancy goods, musical instruments, odds and oddities of every style, finish and variety ever known in North Carolina. His store is really an object of interest to the old as well as the young, and is hourly thronged with visitors to view the various curiosities.

He is prepared to sell at wholesale to country merchants at prices that will defy competition with any market south of New York, and we speak whereof we know, when we say his stock is more complete than any south of Baltimore.

To use an old but expressive phrase, he has everything from a "pig's yoke" to a steamboat."

Go to Brown's museum when you want toys or confectionery, notions, musical instruments or fancy goods.

FRIENDS OF TEMPERANCE!

MEETING OF THE STATE COUNCIL.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

[Reported specially for the DAILY NEWS.]

FAYETTEVILLE, Nov. 13, 1872.

Messrs. Editors: The State Council of Friends of Temperance met in this city yesterday.

About twenty Councils are represented, with between forty and fifty delegates.

Perseverance Council No. 74, with more than 150 members present, gave the members of the State Council a grand reception last night at their Council Hall. Perseverance is the banner Council of North Carolina, and it certainly has the finest hall.

The ladies have recently carpeted and decorated this Hall for the use of this body, and its appearance reflects great credit upon the fair hands that did the work.

The present session of the State Council is the largest ever held in our State, and is composed of earnest laborers in the Temperance cause.

Among the delegates to the State Council is Rev. Geo. E. Wetmore, J. Tillett, Raven, Mann, Whitaker, Franklin and Carraway.

The Secretary reports the organization of thirty councils and an increase of membership of about one thousand during the year.

Rev. Paul J. Caraway, President of the State Council, addressed a large audience at Fayetteville Hall on last night. Others will speak to-morrow night.

The report from the different Councils represented are very good.

BILL ARP ON THE SITUATION.—We extract a part of the letter, and leave it to speak for itself, only remarking that Mrs. Arp is entitled to the first position in the political government of the Arp family.

BE AT YOUR POSTS!

We respectfully urge upon the Democratic members elect to the Legislature the importance of being at their posts on Monday, the 18th, the first day of the session.

The work of organizing the two houses of the Legislature is of very great importance. The Radicals will be on hand to a man, and will take every advantage of the absence of our members. We have a good working majority, but it is not sufficiently large for any Democrats to be absent at roll-call the first day of the session.

NORTHERN PREJUDICE.

The great mass of our people feel "no sympathy for those they still regard as rebels." On the contrary, they hold "that these have been treated more leniently than they deserve."

The New York Tribune, in giving several conclusions upon the general result of the Presidential election, uses the above truthful and candid language.

THE UNITED STATES SENATORSHIP.

We regret to see that some of our Democratic exchanges have allowed themselves to be betrayed into undue feeling about the next United States Senatorship.

The Radical papers have been using all the ingenuity and trickery they could command to produce bad feeling between the friends of the several prominent aspirants for Senatorial honors. They have taken peculiar delight in publishing the attacks and criticisms of correspondents and Conservative editors on distinguished gentlemen whose claims will be urged before the Legislature.

It is evident that the zeal of some of our Democratic cotemporaries has led them, unwittingly, to play into the hands of our enemies.

We trust that the Legislature is abundantly able to take care of the next Senatorship. We are confident that the successor of Pool will be true and able Conservative and a representative worthy of the ancient character and honor of the State.

We trust that the contest will pass without any personal bickerings or asperity.

GEORGE H. GREGORY, ESQ.

We publish the following letter from this gentleman, whose name was used against his consent in the Presidential election as the O'Conor Elector for the First District.

We have received a private letter from Mr. Gregory thanking us for vindicating him from the O'Conor bubble and assuring us that we were right in our statement that he had no sympathy with the movement.

Mr. Gregory would have written to us on the subject before the election, but he did not hear of the action of the Charlotte O'Conor meeting in time to do so.

The Strayed-Outs.

Messrs Editors: We don't always know down here in Martin everything, that is saying and doing in the great world without. The facts accomplished are sooner or later brought to our knowledge by our tri-weekly—one horse mail, but as we are not in a situation to confront facts not within our knowledge, the initial steps, preceding any great movement, as for instance the great gathering of the Straight-Outs, at Charlotte, on the details of world-wondering events in general are never known, or it known, very little cared for.

The fact of an humble man, who never in all his life had even heard of Col. Blanton Duncan, of Kentucky, till his name was in every body's mouth, and was seen appended in the public prints to the celebrated call for a rally of the faithful at Louisville, could have been chosen to bear the colors of the O'Conor, democracy of New York, and the Adam aristocracy of Massachusetts, as the Presidential elector for the first Congressional District, was not to be believed for a moment, by my old fashion sober-sided constituents; there lone must I be excused for not giving full faith and credit to Madam Rumor, who in Martin at least aint the Famus of Virgil.

Your issues of Monday and Tuesday before the election, brought the first authentic tidings, of what was said and done by the survivors, it may be, of the little party who talked so stoutly against old King George on the same ground in 1775 and gave so many valuable suggestions to Mr. Jefferson for his big 4th of July paper of 1776. Friday the 1st of November, but too late for the mail, the full realization of the honor done me in the city of Charlotte by Mr. Fiourney, and two others, was for the first time, made clear to my doubting sense, by a personal inspection of your columns. It was too late to acknowledge the honor before the election, as our next mail would not go till Monday the 4th day before the election. So I held my breath and inquired—what next? Saturday night our last mail before election from Raleigh, brought me a large bundle of O'Conor and Adams tickets, but without post mark, and mailed, I suspect at the City of Oaks, but without the knowledge or consent of the Post Master, as there was, I repeat, no post-mark on the wrapper, although the paper and type looked very much like such as are used on the Era office. But there was no letter from the Chairman or Secretary, or the Committee, as used to be the custom of Democratic nominating assemblies, or even a note of congratulation from the Grant and Wilson State Executive Committee. It was clear under the circumstances, I could not serve—no time to meet Capt. Coke or Dr. Ransom, the Greeley and Grant electors for this District, though I held under the broad seal of the "Democratic

THE SMITH POISONING CASE. From the high standing and character of the parties, the Smith poisoning case of this city will excite universal interest throughout the country.

No similar case has ever before taken place in the annals of Raleigh, and the circumstances connected with the mystery are of a character so sad and painful as to cause deep sympathy for the truly embarrassing and deplorable situation in which the unfortunate wife and daughter have been placed.

The Charlotte Observer, alluding to the affair says:

"One of the most interesting, yet saddest trials that ever took place in this State, or in any country, will soon occupy the attention of the public. A wife and daughter are to be tried for murder, the victim being the father of the one and the husband of the other. And that husband and father a clergyman, who but two days before the fatal poison was administered, had stood in the pulpit and preached the Gospel of Peace! A more shocking, horrible crime than this is hardly known in all the catalogue of dark and revolting deeds. But let the public not prejudge the guilt or innocence of this unfortunate mother and daughter. They may be guilty of the crime.

It is to be hoped so, for the sake not only of themselves, but of humanity. The evidence already elicited is neither direct nor conclusive: it is wholly circumstantial. The prominent facts which are already established, and which gave rise to the suspicion that led to the arrest of the accused, are that the deceased died by poison, that his daughter mixed and administered the fatal dose; that his wife was the custodian of the key of a closet in which was found a vial of the said poisonous drug; and that very bad feeling existed in the unfortunate family. The circumstances point strongly to the guilt to the parties; but circumstantial evidence of the strongest character is sometimes wholly at fault."

The shades of Tom Jefferson, Nat Macon and Old Hickory need not get mad with me, for it was simply impossible—I could not do it, and therefore voted on Tuesday at my own precinct, where there never was a Radical vote polled amongst the whites, save that given in those glorious three days' voting in April, 1868, by a little drab-up, Sandy shanked, red-headed rat of Ransey Sniffle orler—tot a native, but only a sojourner, who afterwards was caught in the itinerant hog business, which he was at that time colleging on the gall-bladder pocosin between Edgecombe and Martin, the border country of free rangers, and was "thereupon" badly treated by Judge Jones at a regular term of Edgecombe Superior Court—for Greeley and Brown.

The Next Senate.

The terms of twenty-four Senators will expire on the 4th of March next, as follows: In Alabama, George E. Spencer; in Arkansas, Benjamin F. Rice; in California, Cornelius Cole; in Connecticut, Orris S. Ferry; in Florida, Thomas W. Osborne; in Georgia, Joshua Hill; in Illinois, Lyman Trumbull; in Indiana, O. P. Morton; in Iowa, James Harlan; in Kansas, Samuel C. Pomeroy; in Kentucky, W. B. Macheen; in Louisiana, Wm. Pitt Lellonge; in Maryland, George Vickers; in Missouri, F. P. Blair; in Nevada, James N. Nye; in New Hampshire, James W. Patterson; in New York, Roscoe Conkling; in North Carolina, Mr. Pool; in Ohio, John Sherman; in Oregon, Henry W. Corbett; in Pennsylvania, Simon Cameron; in South Carolina, Frederick A. Sawyer; in Vermont, Justin S. Morrill, and in Wisconsin, Timothy O. Howe.

In the present body fifty seven were elected as Republicans and seventeen as Democrats. Of the Republicans seven joined the late Liberal movement, thus reducing the Republican strength to fifty and increasing the Democratic side of the Chamber to twenty-four. The results of the late election enables us to form a pretty accurate estimate of the relative strength of the two parties after the 4th of March next. Alabama will in all probability re-elect Mr. Spencer; Arkansas will send back a Republican instead of Mr. Rice; California has already chosen Mr. Sargent to succeed Mr. Cole; Connecticut has re-elected Mr. Ferry; Mr. Osborn will probably be re-elected in Florida; Georgia will send a Democrat instead of Mr. Hill; Illinois we shall have Gov. Oglesby instead of Mr. Trumbull; Iowa has chosen Mr. Allison to succeed Mr. Harlan; Kansas will elect Mr. Pomeroy beyond all doubt; Kentucky has selected Mr. McCreary to succeed Mr. Macheen; Mr. Kellogg has been elected Governor in Louisiana—his place will doubtless be filled by a Liberal until the 4th of March next, when a Re-publican will be elected; Maryland has chosen G. R. Dennis instead of Mr. Vickers; in Missouri Francis P. Blair, Jr., will have a tight push, and it is by no means improbable that he will be defeated; Nevada will re-elect Mr. Nye; in New Hampshire Mr. Bainbridge Wadeigh succeeds Mr. Patterson; New York will select Mr. Conkling; North Carolina will probably elect Vance in stead of Mr. Pool; in Ohio John Sherman will be his own successor; Oregon has elected Mr. Mitchell to Mr. Corbett's seat; in Pennsylvania Mr. Cameron will be re-elected if he shall desire it; South Carolina will re-elect Mr. Sawyer; Vermont has re-elected Mr. Morrill, and Wisconsin will send back Mr. How.

On the above list nineteen are Republicans and five are Democrats, which will leave the Senate of the Forty third Congress fifty three Republicans to twenty-one Democrats. We gain two members instead of Rice and Trumbull, and lose one in Mr. Pool. In other words, counting Sumner, Schurz, Tipton & Co., as Democrats, we shall have no more than a two thirds majority.

Mr. Gregory would have written to us on the subject before the election, but he did not hear of the action of the Charlotte O'Conor meeting in time to do so.

SUPERIOR Court of Green county commences on next Monday, Snow Hill. Judge Clarke, presides.

The Wilmington Stars says the masons have commenced work on the new addition to the Court House.

ALL the banks and commission houses closed yesterday to allow the employers and employees to attend the Fair.

The first Superior Court for Pamlico county is to convene on Monday, December 15th, so says the Goldsboro Messenger.

A GREAT deal of cotton still remain in the fields around the vicinity of Bull Head, Green county. Hands are scarce in that section.

A special term of Wayne Superior Court has been ordered to convene on Monday, December 30th. Judge A. W. Tourgee is to preside.

The Spectator is sorry to learn that Mr. James E. Clark, near Greenville, a few days ago, met with an accident that may necessitate the amputation of an arm.

The Wilmington Star says the wood work of the new and handsome little car recently placed on the street railway line was constructed entirely by Charles Klein, a nephew of Col. Klein, who is about 18 years old.

The Goldsboro Messenger says, the house of Messrs. Everett & Moore, about four miles from Goldsboro, together with about twenty bales of cotton, a large quantity of cotton seed, and the cotton press, were destroyed by fire on Monday evening last. Loss about $4000. The fire caught from a match.

SHERIFF McMILLAN has returned to Lumberton from Georgia, where he went to receive the custody of a man arrested in Hamilton, some weeks since, supposed to be the notorious George Applewhite. It was the wrong bird, the party, who gave his name as Ransom Lowrey, not answering the description of Applewhite. So says the Wilmington Journal.

The case of Purdie Jacobs and Irving Lowrey, alleged accomplices in the robbery of the safe of Messrs. Pope & McLeod, in Lumberton, several months ago, was brought before Judge Buxton, at Rockingham, on Friday last, under a writ of habeas corpus, and argued by counsel. His Honor held the parties to bail in the sum of $1000 each, in default of which they were re-committed to jail to await trial.

The Goldsboro Messenger says, a negro man named Calvin Sherard was lodged in Snow Hill jail on Saturday night last, for forcibly taking a mule from another colored man. Calvin had been deputized by a deputy sheriff from Wayne to assist in carrying Dr. Sherard, col., to Snow Hill. On his way home he got himself into the trouble, was arrested near Bull Head, returned to Snow Hill and committed to jail.

The Wilmington Journal says the horse disease has at length reached Wilmington, and quite a number of the animals are down with it. It first made its appearance here on Tuesday and in eight hours every horse in Messrs. Southerland & Steagall's stables, more than fifty in number, were taken with it, and we understand that there are quite a number of other cases in the city. All of them are light, however, and all owners hope for a speedy recovery. Messrs. Southerland & Steagall have promptly closed their stables to the public, and will not allow one of the horses to leave them.

The following letter from S. M. Fulton, Esq., of Grayson, concerning two Confederate soldiers just returned to their homes, will be read with interest. The history of Pool is of peculiar interest—full of romance and sadness.

Although right of possession is a strong legal title, we think "the other fellow," in view of all the circumstances, ought not to deny Pool and his wife a happy reunion. The letter is dated Summerfield, Grayson county, November 1st, 1872, and appears in the Wytheville Enterprise. This is a veritable Enoch Arden case:

Editor Enterprise:—A man by the name of Wm. H. Smyth, of Alleghany county, stayed with me last night en route to his way home. Said Smith was a Confederate soldier in the Fourth N. C. Regt., company C. He was captured at the battle of Kernstown, and carried Point Lookout, thence to Fort Delaware, and from there he was transported on board the U. S. gunboat Goliath, commanded by Captain Winnette, from the Atlantic Ocean, where he and a man named Alfred Pool, from this neighbor hood, have been kept ever since—not even allowed to come to land. The boat was stove about the 1st of August last, and the crew, taken up by another vessel, was carried to West Point, and thence to Norfolk, Va., from which point Smyth and Pool made their escape. Pool has not yet reached home, from the fact that he was taken sick on the road with chills and fever. Those men have been badly clothed, fed on army rations, and have never received a cent of pay for their ten years service to the U. S.

Pool belonged to that noble company that went from this country—the "Grayson Dare Devils." He had but recently married when he went into the army, and his wife gave birth to a child after he entered the service, which he has never seen. At the battle of Kernstown he was shot through the breast, and as no tidings ever reached his friends afterwards concerning him, he was supposed to be dead. His wife taking this view of it, married a second husband and her and her new husband are living now within a mile of my house. The question now arises when Pool returns whose wife will the woman be? It is an awkward predicament, to say the least of it, for a woman to be in.

Yours truly,
S. M. FULTON.

The Bankrupt Law.

THE REVERSIOR INTEREST IN HOMESTEAD LANDS.

We published two weeks ago, an extract from the Statesville American, in relation to the Bankrupt Act, to which we added our opinion as to the effect of the discharge in Bankruptcy upon a judgment, and the lien by virtue of it. It was in substance, that the bankrupt would discharge the judgment debt and consequently there could be no lien under it; and that the bankrupt would take his homestead free from such encumbrance. Our opinion is based upon the ruling of Judge Dick, as we understand it.

Another ruling has recently been made by Judge Dick that is of great importance. He holds that the reversionary interest in the homestead lands is exempt to the bankrupt. This is under the laws of N. C., chapter 121, Acts of 1869-'70.

The exemptions in bankruptcy in North Carolina, will therefore stand as follows:

A homestead and the dwelling and buildings used thereon, not exceeding in value the sum of $1000.00;

The reversionary interest in the Homestead lands.

The exemptions, it will be seen, amount to between $2000, and $2500.

In view of the fact that an effort is being made to reverse the decision of our Supreme Court, making the Homestead good against old debts, we advise every debtor to go into bankruptcy, wipe out his old indebtedness, which hangs like a heavy weight about his neck. Then, with real and personal property exempt to him to the amount of $2000 and upwards he can start life anew and keep pace with the growing prosperity of this great country.—New North State.

UNDER THE BANKRUPT ACT.

Necessary household and kitchen furniture and other articles and necessities * * * not to exceed in value the sum of $500.00.

All the wearing apparel of such bankrupt and that of his wife and children.

The uniform, arms and equipments of any person who has been in the service of the United States.

Such property as is exempt by the laws of the United States from attachment or seizure or levy on execution.

UNDER STATE LAWS.

Personal property of the value of $500.00, to be selected by the bankrupt

Distant Decay.

"Poverty," says the grim novelist, "seems disposed, before it takes possession of a man entirely, to attack his extremities first; the corruptions of his head, feet and hands are always its first prey." We sometimes think this is true of other than human beings. A corporation, for instance, first shows decay at points remote from the chartered centre. When the Bank of the United States began to collapse, the first blue symptoms were on its purchased branches in Mississippi. The first crack in the credit of the Vermont Central, soon to increase till all was shattered to pieces, was in one of its leased or guaranteed roads, or its subsidiary express companies. So, now, it really looks as if the mammoth corporation which dominates Pennsylvania, and its trying to clutch the railway rule of the whole country, were beginning to show premonitory symptoms. Careful observers have long since noticed these ugly signs, for very ugly they are.

Every one knows that, as with the Vermont Central, the Pennsylvania company is the trunk out of which sprout all manner of minor corporations, guaranteed, leased, purchased, improvement companies, security companies, express companies. Except for the sap generated in the main body, and which is sure in the bud to fail, they would have been leafless long ago. One has fallen almost unobserved. Last summer, amid universal local expectation, perished the Southern Improvement Company, which dealt in oil. It was a confessed branch of the great tree, but the parentage was adroitly concealed. Next and quite recently we see what is known as the Southern Security Company mysteriously involved with a worthless Memphis bank, and a desperate creditor to an enormous for cash deposits. All this was the money of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

And now we have mutiny and damage nearer home. It looks as if the boasted lease of the New Jersey companies, costly as it confessedly has been, is not worth the paper on which it is written, and thus through that sort of recklessness which people in the moment of delirium (for corporations get drunk as well as men) exhibit. To accomplish those leases—to engineer them along through legislatures and courts and hesitating stockholders—must have cost millions. The legitimate expenditures must have been enormous, and what those of another description are never will be known till, in the day of consummate trouble, stock or bondholders' committee of investigation asks for them. The New Jersey act of Assembly requiring the lease to be recorded, is as plain as Mr. Justice Bradley could make it; and he is not at hand to remove the difficulty.

If, as is most probable, the work will have to be done over again, the prospective outlay must be terrible. There is no surplus, no reserve to fall back upon. There is too much stock and bonds in the market already. New Jersey may change her mind and reclaim her independence. Stockholders may recover their senses, and decide, after all, that honest New Jersey dividends are safer than the larger ones which rest upon a questionable guarantee.

TRUST ONE ANOTHER.

Look into your brother's eyes, man,
And bid him read your own;
One half the strife of human life
Is born of guile alone.
Don't let our love half our hates,
And half our love it slays;
Look in each other's eyes, man,
And meet each other's gaze.

Pardon your brother's faults, man,
And ask that he forgive,
Could human sin no pardon win,
No man need Heavens were none forgiven
For none would reach its doors,
Pardon your brother's faults, man,
And bid him pardon yours.

Feel for your brother's grief, man,
No heart is safe from you,
Though lips may yet left dry,
The gentle smile might below,
A gentle wife, a pitying smile,
May sweetest balm impart,
Feel for your brother's grief, man,
And may you win his heart.

Stand by your brother's side, man,
And bid him clasp your hand
To bid him just hold the trust
That you from him demand.
How simply wise, with soul and eyes,
To trust, and still be true—
Ded to them what we have them do.
